

EMERGENCY SERVICES TRAINING CENTRE

The Emergency Services Training Centre was developed to meet the growing demands of the emergency services and offshore sector worldwide.

It has the unique ability to merge any agencies to test their resilience under arduous conditions and, uniquely, it concentrates on the medical aspects of both rescue and recovery rather than rescue itself.

All ESTC tutors and educationalists have been carefully selected from a wide variety of backgrounds. This is to ensure their knowledge and expertise can be passed on to the students ensuring high-fidelity education has taken place, and that the student leaves the facility having had a memorable and enjoyable experience.

Working alongside educational establishments such as the Royal College of Surgeons (England), national resilience teams, Universities, Colleges and Schools ensures our educational input is cutting-edge and accurate.
